Treasures from Local Brands

Shingu products, made with local pride and craftsmanship, are increasingly popular as gifts and souvenirs.

Local Kumano sake

Jofuku tea

Jofuku tea contains Tendai uyaku. Tendai uyaku is said to be the "elixir of life" discovered by Jofuku.

Tendai uyaku

The Traditional Flavours of Shingu

Mehari-zushi

Mehari-zushi is a rice ball wrapped in lightly pickled leaf mustard greens. A food loved by locals for hundreds of years, these were commonly brought along to work or on trips. The name is said to have come from how big your eyes open when you eat the large rice ball!

Sanma-zushi

This local cuisine uses lean Pacific saury that swim southwards to the Kumano-nada Sea. This pickled fish sushi is usually eaten during festivals, New Year's celebrations and other special days.

Whole dried sanma fish

The Pacific saury fish are put out to dry in the peak of winter, in a spot with a lot of sun. The fish is lightly salted before drying, giving it a crunchy texture. The more you chew the fish, the more of that spectacular flavour comes out.

Chagayu

Regular okayu, or rice congee, is made with water; however, in the Kumano region the congee is cooked specially with tea to become a fragrant Chagayu. The tea gives it that rustic colour. This dish is both traditional and gentle on the stomach!

Shingu, a city full of vibrant nature and charm

Shingu has many places worth visiting, but here are some of our favourites!

The sacred spot where the Kumano deities first descended Kamikura-jinja Shrine

At the top of the almost 100m high cliff face is Gotobiki-Iwa Rock, a giant rock that is the object of worship for Kamikura-jinja Shrine. The main hall of the shrine sits underneath the rock, which can be reached upon climbing the 538 steep stone steps upwards. Every February 6, the Oto Matsuri Festival is held here. Garbed all in white, men climb the steps and receive the sacred fire on their torch before rushing downwards again. The brave men look like a fiery dragon coming down the mountain in the night.

Doro-kyo Gorge Boat Tour: The Doro-kyo (Dorohaccho) Gorge spans across Wakayama, Nara and Mie Prefectures. On this tour, you can get a look at the cliff faces and the surrounding great outdoors from atop the majestic clear stream.

"The festival of men, Oto Matsuri. The mountain a waterfall of fire, a descending dragon," is sung about this well-loved festival.

Doro-kyo Gorge and Kumano-gawa River Boat Tours

Kumano-gawa River Boat Tour: The only river pilgrimage route registered amongst all World Heritage Sites. See the amazing scenery downstream while the guide tells you about the wonderful history and landmarks.

The cherry blossoms along the clearing and majestic stone walls are fantastic in the springtime!

Find the historic beauty within the walls Shingu (Tankaku) Castle Ruins

Atop Mt. Tankakusan with the Kumano-gawa River to its back, Shingu (Tankaku) Castle Ruins makes a great place to see a breathtaking view of the city area and Pacific Ocean. During the Edo period, the first lord of the Kishu domain Tokugawa Yorinobu began work on the castle before the Mizuno clan worked in later. For the next 250 years, Shingu prospered as a castle town under the Mizuno family. Inside the castle grounds lie a number of monuments that show Shingu's long history.

See the crystal clear water, the magnificent mountains and the historic river by boat and immerse yourself in this amazing nature.

Kumano Hayatama Taisha Grand Shrine

Kumano Hayatama Taisha, together with Kumano Hongu Taisha and Kumano Nachi Taisha, comprise the Kumano Sanzan, or the Three Grand Shrines of Kumano. The name "hayatama" with "haya" meaning "fast", is said to represent deification of the movements and sources of water themselves, which are the great foundations of all life. The shrine sits along the banks of the crystal-clear Kumano-gawa River.

Koya-zaka Slope

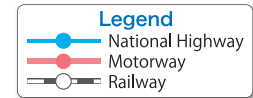

The Kumano Kodo Koya-zaka trail is approx. 2km in length and takes about 60min end to end (not including the viewpoints off the trail). With mossed cobblestones and the ocean that occasionally shows between the trees, it makes for an excellent detour for beginner walkers!

Jofuku Park

Jofuku was a Qin Dynasty scholar (221-206 BC, over 2200 years ago!) sent by the Emperor to find the elixir of life. Jofuku liked Shingu's moderate climate so much, he and his crew settled ashore in Japan instead. He taught agricultural skills to the local people.
